FINE

S A S A N Q U A S

We were more than pleased over the splendid reception these new varieties of Sasanquas received last season. It is suggested that you make it a point to see them blossom this Fall . . . then you, too, will be a Sasanqua enthusiast.

Camellia sasanqua is moving North! Sasanquas are in demand . . . both old and new varieties . . . their true hardiness is unknown! They can stand abuse . . . they can take it! Sasanqua uses are many.

The following varieties that are being propagated are insufficient in quantity to "go around." It will definitely be a few years before these finer sasanquas can be grown in volume from cuttings. "Wood" is scarce! Plants are scarce! It would be a wise venture to get your STOCK plants and "future salesmen" now! A blossom sells a plant.

We are happy to be among the first to offer these excellent varieties:

*SHISHIGASHIRA (Easily pronounced she she gah she rah)

Double—Bright Rose Red, rose-bud opening.

Dwarf—Excellent for patios rock gardens and pot culture. Blooms profusely, and when young. Heavy foliage. Due to its slow growing habit this variety is better as a graft.

*USU BENI (ooh sue bayney)

Semi-double to peony—Orchid Pink, sometimes mottled white—Flower increases in size as it ages on the bush, color changing from pink to orchid. Enchanting! Buds often set on one-year grafts six to twelve inches down the stem in clusters of two or more. Heavy bloomer. Flowers last.

*LITTLE GEM (Kowgyoku)

Full double . . . imbricated. White to faint pink. Erect growth, dense. Foliage different. Interestingly beautiful. Does not set buds when young, but in profusion when a few years old.

CHOJIGURUMA (cho chee goo roo mah)

This is a strange sort. Two distinctly different types of flowers. One anemoneform rose pink, like a miniature Prof. Sargent . . . the other a large single, two-tone like Oleifera sasanqua. Colorful foliage.

HINO DE GUMO (he no day goo mo)

The largest single flower we know in sasanquas. White, margined amaranth pink — petals crimped. Handsome deep green leaves. Darn nice.

FLAPPER (Ocean Springs)

The Ville de Nantes of sasanquas. Single to semi-double. Petals with pure white base rouged red. (Reminding of a young girl in her first effort with make-up.) Dog-eared petals project from center. Pollen a chrome yellow, vividly different. This is a gay number.

We list the following varieties expressly for collectors of sasanquas. They are available in grafts and at the above prices.*
